APS-20W-O

20W power supply specifically designed for usage in IoT, industrial controls, gateways, electrical panel controllers, and other applications that require constant power sources. Work with single, dual and three  phase connection make ideal for critical equipment. This model offers 230V phase selector output for powering 230V devices like energy meters etc.

- General information

General information

| | |
|---|---|
| Download technical specification | Technical Specification |